Charles Holt has over 20 years experience as a farm management consultant. He specialises in providing financial and technical advice to dairy and arable farming businesses, and focuses particularly on strategic planning for business development or restructuring.

Charles has a further specialism in planning matters as they apply to farmers. He advises on and prepares Agricultural Dwelling House Appraisals, acting both for farmers and for District Councils, where a second opinion is required. Charles also provides expert farm consultancy advice in planning appeals. He helps farmers submit planning applications.

He has developed a particular interest in milk quota and in solving the problems that it creates for dairy farmers, although the problems now are very minor. Alongside his farm consultancy and planning work Charles sources finance for farmers, for machinery, land, property, restructuring and refinancing situations. He operates this through a separate business, Cedar Capital Finance Ltd.
